Commander R. P. Mack, MVO

The late Commander R. P. Mack, MVO was known throughout the numismatic world as the author of 'The Coinage of Ancient Britain' which was first published in 1953 and has been reprinted twice since that date. Ancient British coins were indeed his greatest interest, and his collection of no less than 306 coins forms the most complete private collection of this series in existence.

His numismatic interest, however, was by no means confined to the coins of Ancient Britain, and his collection of Anglo Saxon and Norman coins is again one of the most complete in the world. He was especially keen on the Baronial coins of the Norman period which still pose so many problems of identification. Although not a specialist collector of Mints, he was always keen to add to his coins of Winchester which was close to where he lived, and many other Mints are well represented. The series of William I pennies of type VIII are particularly well represented by over 50 different Mints.

In 1973 the British Academy published the entire collection of Ancient British, Anglo-Saxon and Norman coins in Volume 20 of their series of sylloges of important collections.

The collection had its beginnings as far back as 1908 when Commander Mack was a small boy of seven. He was given a little bag of Roman coins. His mother, who was a collector of china, glass and other antiques, encouraged him and the collection was really started with the purchase in Winchester of two English silver pennies for a shilling each. During his Naval service and up until the War, the collection was more or less a general one, including both hammered and milled English gold and silver coins. After the War, however, Commander Mack decided to concentrate entirely on Ancient British, Anglo-Saxon and Norman coins, and the rest of his collection was sold. Collections such as Grantley, Ryan, Taffs and Parsons came on the market, and many coins from these collections were added. When the Lockett collection was dispersed, the opportunity to add many rarities occurred and another important source was the collection formed by the Duke of Argyll. Pedigrees and find spots were of particular interest to Commander Mack and very careful records of these were kept as will be seen from the catalogue.

After retiring from the Navy at the end of the War, Commander Mack had time to spend with his coins and no one could have had more enjoyment from studying his collection and meeting the many other collectors he came to know through membership of the Royal and British Numismatic Societies. Although he also inherited from his mother an interest in English china, coins was always his first love and he was encouraged tremendously in his hobby by his wife, Marjorie, to whom his book on Ancient British coins was dedicated. Commander Mack was a person of infinite charm and kindness, and I remember with affection my visits to his home in Droxford and the innumerable occasions when he came to Spinks in London.

In 1966 the collection in its entirety was handed over to Commander Mack's son and daughter, Richard Mack and Mrs D. P. Rowatt, and the owners have now given instructions for the sale. The coins will be sold by auction in several parts. This catalogue contains the first selection and a cross section of all the coins has been included.

There are so many rarities in the sale that it would be superfluous to select individual coins for mention. Every coin, however, is illustrated and collectors will be able to see for themselves the wide range of material being offered for sale.

SALE CATALOGUES

On the average we issue twelve or more Coin Catalogues and three Naval & Military Medal Catalogues each year, some of which are usually of Sales of important Collections.

Catalogue Subscriptions

Sale Catalogues, frequently illustrated, are normally posted to Subscribers about three weeks prior to the date of Sale.

List of 'Prices Realised' are issued after each Sale, thus giving at a glance a reliable guide to value. The final test of value must always be auction prices rather than the figures given in books of reference, for changing times and fashions soon render the latter obsolete and misleading. The Lists of 'Prices Realised' will probably be enclosed in a following Sale Catalogue.

Subscription Rates

(commencing from 1st January)

Coin Catalogues and subsequent list of Prices Realised

£3.00 per annum

Naval & Military Medal Catalogues and subsequent list of Prices Realised

£0.75 per annum

(Reductions for new subscribers commencing after 1st April.)

All subscriptions expire on 31st December, and renewal reminders are issued. Catalogues of past Sales cannot be supplied.

Air Mail

To allow subscribers resident outside Europe time to submit postal bids, Pre-Sale Catalogues will, if desired, be sent by Air Mail. Air Mail postage is not, however, included in the Subscription Rate and the cost must be borne by the Subscriber. In such cases an additional £2.00 should be sent as a deposit and we will advise when this is exhausted.
